

Information & Assistance Unit guide 16(A)

How to correctly name your employer for the Uninsured Employers Benefits Trust Fund

In order to get benefits from the Uninsured Employers Benefits Trust Fund (UEBTF) when your employer is illegally uninsured, you must properly name your employer. This means you need to know the legal name of your employer and provide that name with your claim.

There are several ways an employer might be named, depending on the kind of business and how you are or were employed. For example:

- If you're working for one person directly: Name this person by writing the first name, middle initial if known, and last name(s) of the person. Example: "John A. Smith, an individual"
- If you're working for a business owned by an individual: Name the employer by writing the names of both the owner and the business. Example: "John A. Smith, individually and doing business as Smith Carpeting."
- If you're working for a business owned by partners: Name the employer by writing the names of the individual partners and the business. Example: "John A. Smith and Mary B. Smith, individually and doing business as Smith Carpeting."
- If you're working for a corporation: Write the exact name of the corporation. You do not need to name any individuals. Example: "Smith Carpeting, Inc." Include the business name if it's different from the corporation name and you know it. Example: "Smith Carpeting, Inc., a corporation doing business as Fast Rug."

You MUST obtain the legal name of your employer. If you don't know it, you can find your employer's name through the city business license filings or the county clerk's office "fictitious business name statement." Business cards, employer stationery and advertisements may also show your employer's legal name. If your employer is a corporation you can find its name through the secretary of state's business portal at www.ss.ca.gov.

Once you have identified your employer correctly, include that name when filing legal papers with the Workers' Compensation Appeals Board.

You can learn more about naming your employer from the Department of Consumer Affairs. See their Web site at www.dca.ca.gov/legal. You can also get more information from your county small claims court office.
